

2013 ANZMTG

Annual Scientific Meeting and Annual General Meeting

ANZMTG invites clinicians, allied health workers, researchers and students who have a common interest in advancing melanoma research to our annual research meeting in Brisbane. The 2013 ASM will be an informative meeting which will include presentations of all current and approved protocols in development, as well as relevant results of current research activities. ANZMTG members will also introduce and discuss new concepts and clinical trial proposals.

The ANZMTG ASM coincides with the Global Controversies and Advances in Skin Cancer Conference, providing the opportunity for attendees to experience both world-class events and garner an excellent insight into current melanoma and skin cancer research.

Wednesday
20th November

Russell Strong Auditorium
